Ms. Sarah Culshaw
Secretary
Dufferin OPP Detachment Board
Email: sculshaw@melancthontownship.ca

Dear Ms. Culshaw:

Thank you for your letter dated December 18, 2025, in relation to the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) criminal record check processing times.

In June 2022, the OPP launched the centralized Online Police Record Check System to enhance public access and convenience when applying for a Police Record Check Certificate. This system was developed using a web-based application supplied by an external provider. The gathered information is securely transmitted to the OPP Online Police Record Check Unit (OPRCU), which completes, stores and sends the Police Record Check Certificate results directly to the applicant.

The OPP remains committed to delivering efficient and consistent service to the public in relation to police record checks. While the OPRCU strives to complete all checks in a timely manner, many variables may contribute to delays. Once a check is initiated, various factors can affect the turnaround time. If a different type of police record check is required or if there are missing details in the application, the OPRCU must reach out to the applicant and await a response before continuing. Additionally, a higher level of police record check such as the Vulnerable Sector Check requires more time to process as the scope of information increases. Therefore, the time to analyze and complete the check increases as well.

Given the extensive jurisdiction of the OPP, the OPRCU handles a substantial number of police record check requests. On average, the unit processes approximately 500 applications each day, with volumes rising to as many as 1,700 daily during peak periods throughout the year. Demand for record checks can vary due to external factors such as seasonal trends and organization or employer requirements. The OPP remains committed to maintaining service standards while managing these fluctuations.

To ensure fairness and transparency to all, the OPP does not offer an expedited service for an additional fee. Police record checks are processed in the order they are received, and current turnaround times are published weekly on the application website.

Ms. Sarah Culshaw

The OPP is committed to delivering timely and effective service and we are working to ensure that employers, prospective staff, and community organizations have their checks in a timely manner. We understand the necessity of record checks and appreciate your patience as we work diligently to meet growing demand and enhance our service capacity.

In the interest of continuous improvement, since the current system was implemented in 2022, the OPP has initiated a comprehensive plan that includes staffing enhancements and operational backlog reduction initiatives.

Should you have any further questions, please contact the OPRCU directly at OPP.OPRC.Unit@opp.ca.

The OPP is committed to providing effective, professional service to our communities. Thank you again for writing.

Yours truly,

OPP ONLINE POLICE RECORD CHECK TIMELINES CONTINUE TO IMPROVE

Current turnaround times averaging approximately 10 days

(ORILLIA, ON) - Turnaround times for Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) online police record checks have significantly improved, following the implementation of new efficiencies.

In the summer and fall of 2025, the OPP experienced a significant backlog in processing police record checks, with turnaround times reaching 12 to 14 weeks. We heard the concerns from community members and organizations who rely on timely results, and we took immediate steps to address the issue.

Over the past several months, the OPP conducted a full review of the Online Police Record Checks Unit (OPRCU), including an internal audit, updates to policies and procedures, and the allocation of additional resources to meet the increased demand.

These efforts have resulted in substantial improvements. While the OPP's service standard is to complete all levels of record checks within 30 days, current turnaround times are averaging approximately 10 days.

While processing times may extend closer to the 30-day standard during periods of peak demand, the OPRCU remains committed to maintaining timely and reliable service. Current turnaround times are published weekly on the application website.

For those living in OPP jurisdiction who require a record check, please visit the OPP online police record check process webpage. Please note that detachment staff are unable to process any applications locally.

If you have questions about your record check, please contact 1-833-909-0057 or opp.virtualdesk@tritoncanada.ca. We ask that members of the public use this line rather than calling the OPP's non-emergency line (1-888-310-1122) to ensure those who require an immediate police response due to an ongoing crime or threat to public safety are able to access the critical support and resources they need.

The OPP will continue to monitor demand, adjust resources as needed, and refine processes to ensure the public receives efficient, responsive support moving forward.

QUOTE:

"We recognize the impacts delays can have on those we serve. The OPP is committed to providing effective, professional service to our communities, and I am pleased with the great work of the Online Police Records Check Unit to improve turnaround times for police record checks."

Terms of Reference for Province-Wide Inspection on Police Integrity and Anti-Corruption Practices

MANDATE

On February 9, 2026, Ontario's Inspector General of Policing ("Inspector General"), Ryan Teschner, announced a province-wide inspection to examine police integrity and anti-corruption practices across Ontario's policing sector. The Inspector General has determined that this sector-wide approach is necessary to identify strengths and opportunities to further fortify Ontario's policing system against corruption and integrity risks. The inspection ("Inspection") will consist of several interrelated inspections that will focus on issues within defined areas.

Pursuant to subsection 111(1) of the Community Safety and Policing Act, 2019,¹ ("CSPA"), the Inspector General has appointed the Honourable William Hourigan as the inspector ("Inspector") to conduct this work. With this appointment, Inspector Hourigan possesses all the legal authorities required to conduct this Inspection and will prepare and submit Findings Reports that can lead to the Inspector General issuing legally-binding directions ("Directions").

The purpose of the Inspection is to conduct a comprehensive, independent and transparent examination of police integrity and anti-corruption practices within the province's policing and police governance sector. The Inspection will gather evidence: to assess any non-compliance with the CSPA and its regulations; to identify any systemic issues, shortcomings and areas for improvement; and to inform any Direction(s) that the Inspector General may issue to improve the performance of police services and boards in preventing, detecting and responding to corruption.

The Inspection is established in recognition of the fact that: (i) all aspects of policing are conducted on behalf of the public and in the public interest; (ii) effective policing requires public confidence in Ontario's police services; (iii) public confidence is primarily built and maintained by police services and boards, and (iv) the policing system is interconnected and has interdependencies, including the sharing of information between organizations, the movement of personnel from one police service to another, and investigations or other matters that involve multiple police services.

The Inspection will cover all of Ontario's police services and police service boards as defined by the CSPA. The sector-wide Inspection will focus on five defined areas, with the ability to examine additional areas as the need arises during the Inspection:

1. Supervision and span of control, including a review of the methods and effectiveness of officer supervision

- Primary objectives include:
 - Determine how supervisors are trained to identify areas of vulnerability, early warning signs of corruption and performance deficiencies to address issues before they escalate or propagate;
 - Understand how corruption can progress from individual to systemic corruption within police services; and
 - Determine what practices and approaches ensure the appropriate level of risk-management and supervisory engagement, including by examining best practices from other jurisdictions and sectors.

2. Screening and vetting of police officers and civilian members both at recruitment and on an ongoing basis

- Primary objectives include:
 - Define “corruption” and “corruption risks”;
 - Understand the causes or risk factors that create opportunities for corruption at both the recruitment stage and throughout a policing career;
 - Identify proven practices for preventing and detecting corruption; and
 - Identify effective, evidence-based practices for screening new police service members and active members throughout their career, including when progressing into more senior or high-risk roles, for integrity, suitability, and ability to meet service standards, including by examining best practices from other jurisdictions.

3. Access to police databases and information systems, including permissions, controls and clearances

- Primary objectives include:
 - Identify how police database and information systems can be proactively and reactively monitored, including through the use of Information and Information Technology solutions, to prevent misuse and detect early warning signs of corruption or potentially corrupt activity; and
 - Review role-based access permissions to determine effective approaches for applying the principle of least privilege to ensure police service members only have access to information necessary for their current duties, including by examining best practices from other jurisdictions.

4. Evidence and property management practices

- Primary objectives include:
 - Identify best practices for evidence and property management that comply with regulatory requirements and the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms;²
 - Determine how police services can maintain a process to ensure a rigorous, unbroken chain of custody for all physical and digital evidence from the point of seizure through to final disposition; and
 - Understand how to manage the risks of theft and evidence tampering to implement effective precautionary measures, including by examining best practices from other jurisdictions.

² Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (U.K.), 1982, c. 11.

5. Substance abuse and fitness for duty

- Primary objectives include:
 - Understand how police services can identify officers who may be struggling with substance abuse or other wellness issues before these issues affect their fitness for duty;
 - Identify evidence-based criteria for prompting and conducting fitness for duty assessments; and
 - Determine how police services can support members' wellness and rehabilitation while maintaining public trust, including by examining best practices from other jurisdictions.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR THIS INSPECTION

The Inspector General is appointed through Order-in-Council under the CSPA and is mandated to ensure compliance with the CSPA and its regulations through inspections, investigations, monitoring and advisory services.

This Inspection will be conducted pursuant to Ontario's CSPA and shall operate with the full powers, protections, and immunities afforded thereunder.

The Inspector shall carry out the Inspection in accordance with these terms of reference ("Terms of Reference"), the Inspector General's direction, the CSPA and its regulations, and all other applicable legislation and regulations.

The Inspector will have all the authorities and powers of an inspector under Part VII of the CSPA and will conduct the Inspection in accordance with all requirements of the CSPA, including the privilege and confidentiality requirements under sections 118 and 119 of the CSPA. Additionally, the Inspection and any Findings Reports generated will comply with the CSPA, its regulations and other applicable legislation, such as the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act ("FIPPA").³

INSPECTION AUTHORITIES, POWERS AND PROCESS

The Inspector will manage the Inspection in a manner that is efficient, reasonable, and proportionate to fulfil these Terms of Reference, which includes obtaining meaningful information necessary to inform the Inspector in the execution of his duties. The Inspection will be conducted using a combination of the following methods, as appropriate:

- a) review and analysis of policies, procedures, directives, data, reports, and governance frameworks maintained by police services and boards;
- b) interviews and consultations with police chiefs, board members, senior officers, front-line personnel, and other relevant stakeholders, including representatives of police associations;
- c) benchmarking against leading practices in policing and other sectors (where applicable), academic research, and comparable jurisdictions;
- d) site visits and on-site inspections;

³ Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter F. 31.

- e) consultation with individual experts and/or panels of experts as deemed necessary by the Inspector from time to time; and
- f) any other investigative or analytical techniques, including surveys, focus group or innovative engagement approaches, deemed appropriate by the Inspector and consistent with this mandate and relevant authorizations.

In accordance with subsection 111(4) of the CSPA, the Inspector shall not conduct the Inspection for the purpose of determining whether a particular individual's conduct constitutes misconduct under the CSPA. To the extent reasonably possible, activities conducted under the Inspection must not compromise any ongoing police investigation, public prosecution, or misconduct investigation. The Inspector may defer or pause examination of specific matters if the Inspector is satisfied that proceeding would prejudice ongoing or pending criminal investigations, prosecutions, or misconduct investigations. The Inspector may consult with relevant prosecutorial authorities or with the Law Enforcement Complaints Agency regarding any such concerns.

The Inspector will notify the Inspector General if, during the Inspection, they become aware of conduct that may constitute a criminal offence, misconduct, or a matter that otherwise requires notification to the Inspector General pursuant to section 120 of the CSPA. The Inspector General or the Inspector may disclose information obtained as may be required for any law enforcement purpose pursuant to section 119 of the CSPA.

As required by the CSPA, all police services, police services boards and the Ontario Provincial Police shall cooperate fully with the Inspection, including by providing timely and unrestricted access to requested information, records, data, personnel and premises. The Inspector shall notify the Inspector General if the lack of cooperation of an entity or individual involved in the Inspection may affect the Inspector's ability to conduct the Inspection. If the entity or individual identified by the Inspector fails to cooperate with this Inspection within a reasonable time as determined by the Inspector General, the Inspector General may issue such Direction as deemed necessary and as permitted by law to ensure the integrity of the Inspection and the effective fulfilment of these Terms of Reference. For clarity, offences in relation to the conduct of the Inspection pursuant to section 129 of the CSPA apply.

Costs of the Inspection will be borne by the Province of Ontario through the Office of the Inspector General and shall be paid and incurred in accordance with applicable Government of Ontario guidelines and requirements.

The Inspector will provide a financial report on the costs of the Inspection to the Inspector General on an annual basis and as otherwise required, and the Inspector General shall make that information publicly available in the appropriate form.

INSPECTION COUNSEL AND STAFF

The Inspection shall be supported by counsel who may be appointed as inspectors pursuant to subsection 111(1) of the CSPA ("Inspection Counsel"). Inspection Counsel shall be responsible for assisting the Inspector in the conduct of the Inspection, including by gathering information, interviewing individuals, engaging experts, and conducting research and analysis. Inspection Counsel shall act at the direction, and on behalf of the Inspector, and shall not act as advocates for any party or special interest.

The Inspection shall be supported by such administrative staff, researchers, investigators, experts, and other personnel as the Inspector considers necessary to carry out the mandate. The Inspector and Inspection Counsel shall have the authority to form retained expert panels as deemed necessary throughout the course of the Inspection to assist in the execution of these Terms of Reference.

TIMING AND REPORTING

The Inspection will be conducted in a timely and thorough manner, reflecting the urgency and importance of the issues under review.

Following the appointment of the Inspector, the Inspector will provide progress updates on the Inspection to the Inspector General at least every six months. The Inspector General shall publish the progress updates on the internet in a manner consistent with applicable legislation, such as the FIPPA. Notwithstanding this timeline, the Inspector, in agreement with the Inspector General, may amend the frequency for which progress updates are provided if the Inspector and Inspector General agree that amending the timeline would better fulfil these Terms of Reference, including the objectives of promoting transparency and public trust.

The Inspector will provide Findings Report(s) to the Inspector General when,

- the Inspector is satisfied that inspection of one of the defined areas under the Inspection is complete and the Findings Report can support the issuing of any Directions by the Inspector General;
- at the conclusion of the entire Inspection; and/or
- at any other time as deemed necessary by the Inspector.

The Inspector General shall independently review all Findings Reports and may, where the report discloses evidence of non-compliance with the CSPA or its regulations, or that an act or omission will likely result in such non-compliance, issue legally-binding Directions to police service(s), police boards(s), and/or chief(s) of police. The Inspector General will publish all Findings Reports and any Directions on the internet, in a manner that complies with the CSPA and its regulations.

AMENDMENT OF TERMS OF REFERENCE

These Terms of Reference may be amended by the Inspector General should such amendment become necessary to clarify the mandate, address unforeseen circumstances, or otherwise ensure the effective operation of the Inspection.

Signed this 23rd day of April, 2026

April 23, 2026

Dear Chiefs of Police, Commissioner Carrique and Board Chairs,

I write in my capacity as the Inspector appointed by the Inspector General of Policing, Ryan Teschner, under s. 111 of the Community Safety and Policing Act, 2019 (“CSPA”) to inform you that I am commencing a sector-wide inspection of police services and police service boards across Ontario, focused on police integrity and anti-corruption.

The purpose of this letter is to introduce the inspection and outline its scope and objectives. A formal inspection notice, including detailed information regarding methodology, timelines, and expectations for participation, will follow in the coming weeks. Enclosed with this letter are the Terms of Reference that have been established by Inspector General Teschner, and which set out the full mandate and parameters of the inspection.

By way of introduction, I have spent decades in the Ontario and Canadian justice system, most recently serving as a Justice of the Court of Appeal for Ontario. During my tenure on the Court of Appeal, I acted as a Commissioner of Inquiry in Ontario and completed an investigation for the Government of Alberta under that province’s Police Act.

I am supported by Sandra Barton and Adam Bazak of Gowling WLG, who will serve as my Lead Counsel and Associate Lead Counsel, with support from a small team of Gowling WLG litigators. Ms. Barton and Mr. Bazak will both be appointed as inspectors by the Inspector General under the CSPA. Preston Lim, one of the lawyers who worked with me on the investigation for the Government of Alberta, will also be appointed as an inspector. We will approach this work with rigour, focusing on whether the systems designed to protect police integrity are working as intended, and supporting police officers and civilian members in delivering high-quality services that keep communities across Ontario safe.

Purpose and Nature of the Inspection

I want to emphasize at the outset that this inspection is organizational or institutional in nature and will examine issues of anti-corruption and integrity as it relates to police services and boards as organizational actors within Ontario’s policing system. This inspection is not an investigation into the conduct of any individual officer or civilian member. As intended by Inspector General Teschner, this inspection will be system-focused and forward-looking, designed to strengthen the institutional frameworks that support police integrity across Ontario. The inspection will not interfere with any existing judicial process and will seek not to duplicate any quasi-judicial or regulatory process.

As part of this inspection, the inspection team will be required to:

1. determine how police services and police service boards are meeting statutory and regulatory expectations through governance, oversight, and operational practices in relation to integrity, accountability, and public trust; and
2. examine how police services and police service boards design, implement, and oversee institutional frameworks and operational practices that support police integrity and mitigate corruption risks.

Thematic Areas of the Inspection

In accordance with the Terms of Reference, the inspection will be organized around five thematic areas, while retaining flexibility to examine additional matters as needed:

1. supervision and span of control, including training and practices that enable early identification and management of integrity risks;
2. screening and vetting of officers and civilian members at recruitment and throughout their careers, including progression into higher-risk roles;
3. access to police databases and information systems, including permissions, controls, monitoring, and application of the principle of least privilege;
4. evidence and property management, including chain-of-custody safeguards and controls; and,
5. substance use and fitness for duty, with an emphasis on early identification, evidence-based assessment, and supports that uphold both public trust and member wellness.

Across these themes, the inspection will consider systemic patterns, governance and oversight arrangements, and the sustainability of practices over time, rather than isolated incidents or individual conduct.

These thematic areas will be assessed with reference to the CSPA and regulations enacted pursuant to the CSPA. The inspection may also draw upon recognized best practices in policing and public-sector integrity.

Our objective is to assess operational and governance practices, identify strengths and risks, and develop evidence-informed observations that support sector-wide improvement and continued public confidence in policing. To that end, the inspection team is currently focused on designing the methodology for our review, and establishing a baseline understanding of existing frameworks, practices, and sector-wide considerations across Ontario and, where useful, other jurisdictions. As you know, following the completion of the inspection, I am required to submit my findings reports to Inspector General Teschner, so that he can determine whether and what legally-binding directions may be required to address my findings.

Cooperation and Engagement

Your cooperation and engagement will be integral to the effectiveness of this inspection. I recognize that an inspection of this scope will place demands on the time and resources of your service and board. My team and I are committed to conducting this work in a fair, respectful, and collaborative manner, that minimizes disruption to your operations, while ensuring a thorough and credible process. We will work with you to coordinate scheduling and to streamline information requests wherever possible.

Next Steps

In the coming weeks, a member of my team will contact your office to arrange an initial introductory conversation. The purpose of that meeting will be to outline the inspection approach, discuss logistics, and answer any preliminary questions you may have. Following that conversation, you will receive a formal inspection notice setting out:

- the specific scope of engagement for your service;
- the inspection methodology and process;
- timelines and key milestones;
- expectations regarding document production and access; and
- confidentiality and information-handling protocols.

No action is required on your part at this time.

Closing

My team and I are committed to approaching this work in a fair, respectful, and collaborative manner, grounded in statutory authority and the terms established by the Inspector General, and guided by a shared interest in strengthening public confidence in policing in Ontario.

I look forward to working with you and your service throughout this process. Further information will be shared as the inspection methodology and engagement plan are finalized.

Yours sincerely,

The Honourable William Hourigan
Inspector

Yesterday, the Inspector General of Policing announced a province-wide inspection focused on police integrity and anti-corruption practices across Ontario.

This inspection will examine both police services and police service boards and is intended to assess current practices, identify risks, and support improvements across the policing and governance framework. The work will be led by the Honourable William Hourigan, appointed as inspector under the Community Safety and Policing Act.

Police Governance Ontario supports this inspection as an important step in strengthening governance, oversight, and public confidence in Ontario's policing system.

May 1, 2026

Dear Chiefs of Police and Board Chairs,

On behalf of the Inspectorate of Policing, I wish to acknowledge the professionalism, dedication, and service of those who work across Ontario's police services as we come together this weekend to mark the Ontario Police Foundation Ceremony of Remembrance.

This annual ceremony provides a solemn opportunity to reflect on the inherent risks faced by police officers in the course of their duties and on the lasting impact their service has on the safety and well-being of communities throughout Ontario. It is a time to honour those who made the ultimate sacrifice, to stand in solidarity with the families and colleagues who carry their loss, and to recognize those who continue to serve with resolve, compassion and integrity.

As we pay tribute, we are also reminded of our shared responsibility to support policing that is fair, effective, and responsive to the needs of the communities it serves. The Ceremony of Remembrance not only honours the legacy of those who have fallen, but also reinforces our collective commitment to strengthening the systems that support those who serve today and into the future.

Thank you for your continued leadership and dedication to public service. Together, we honour the legacy of those we have lost and reaffirm our support for those who continue to serve communities across Ontario with dedication and courage.

Sincerely,

Ryan Teschner
Inspector General of Policing of Ontario

DUFFERIN OPP LAY 375 CHARGES DURING CANADA ROAD SAFETY WEEK

(DUFFERIN COUNTY) - Members of the Dufferin Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) participated in this year's Canada Road Safety Week campaign, resulting in a total of 375 charges being laid across Dufferin County.

Canada Road Safety Week, which ran from May 12 to May 18, 2026, focused on promoting safe driving behaviours and increasing compliance with traffic laws to help save lives. The campaign targeted behaviours that place drivers, passengers, pedestrians, and other vulnerable road users at risk, including the "Big Four" contributing factors in serious collisions and fatalities on Ontario roads:

- Impaired driving
- Distracted driving
- Speeding and aggressive driving
- Lack of seatbelt use

During the campaign, Dufferin OPP officers laid the following charges:

- Speeding: 215
- Stunt driving/racing: 5
- Seatbelt violations: 16
- Distracted driving: 1
- Impaired driving: 8
- Other charges: 130

Overall, 375 charges were laid during the campaign, marking an increase of over 24% compared to last year.

These enforcement results highlight the continued efforts of Dufferin OPP officers to promote road safety and address dangerous driving behaviours throughout the community.

The Dufferin OPP would like to thank all motorists and road users who made safe and responsible choices during the campaign and encourage everyone to continue making road safety a priority year-round.

Drivers are reminded to slow down, stay focused behind the wheel, wear a seatbelt, and never drive while impaired.
